

Your community has a housing plan. We help you deliver on it.

re:Main connects policy to production.

THE CHALLENGE

Policy Friction

Outdated zoning and uncertain approvals processes can block production, even when public sentiment supports more housing.

Public Opposition & Misinformation

A vocal few can stall housing the majority supports. Projects collapse before they're ever proposed.

Market Disconnects

Municipalities are looking for mission aligned developers. Developers can't find sites. Owners don't know what options they have. Capital is looking for opportunities.

THE SOLUTION

Your Community's Housing Operating System

re:Main activates the housing pipeline by turning policy goals into development-ready opportunities, strengthening community understanding and support, and aligning the private-sector partners required to deliver new homes.

Community Hub

A centralized hub that positions your municipality as a housing leader, tracking reforms, educating the public, showcasing priority sites, and connecting with builders and investors to turn policy reforms into homes.

Stakeholder Engagement & Messaging

Translate complex policy into clear narratives that build public trust, grow pro-housing coalitions, and sustain support through the full arc of reform, sustaining through permitting and construction.

Community Diagnostic

A comprehensive regulatory health check that evaluates zoning, permitting & local sentiment to identify key barriers limiting housing production and highlight practical opportunities for reform & innovative programs

Developer & Investor Matchmaking

Connect development-ready sites with qualified developers and mission-aligned investors to move projects to permitting and construction—pairing reform-ready communities with partners who deliver.
